

On behalf of the European Society Cardiology Working Group on Cardiovascular Pharmacotherapy, it is our great pleasure to invite you to attend EuroCVP 2023, which will take place in Florence (Italy) from the 2nd to the 4th of November 2023.

EuroCVP is the official scientific meeting of the ESC Working Group of Cardiovascular Pharmacotherapy, and the focus of the programme this year will be on new advances in the prevention and treatment of cardiovascular disease. Management guidelines, the translation of recent research into clinical practice, and how to implement precision pharmacotherapy will all feature prominently in the programme.

Join us at EuroCVP this year and interact with an outstanding Faculty, present your research in the moderated poster sessions, and enjoy a meeting that offers a vibrant scientific programme, outstanding experts and a wealth of interactive sessions. This would be a great opportunity to showcase your work, building networks, and getting involved in the management of clinical cases and scientific discussions.

Attend EuroCVP and join friends and colleagues from the World over in their endeavour to developing and delivering safe, precise and effective cardiovascular pharmacological treatments.

We hope to see you at EuroCVP in November, attending the educational sessions, presenting your work, and sharing your knowledge and expertise with us all. The beautiful city of Florence will offer a unique and inspiring cultural environment that will make EuroCVP 2023 a memorable event.

We truly look forward to welcoming you in Florence!
